Worked Over: How Round-the-Clock Work is Killing the American Dream

by Jamie K. McCallum

Overworked and underpaid. It's an old, jokey statement that's not so funny now. No, it seems like you work more hours than you ever did, and your ends still come up two feet from meeting. You're overwhelmed because you're underfunded month after month and you don't know why. Read "Worked Over" by Jamie K. McCallum, though, and you'll understand. Fifty years ago, American workers looked forward to their weekends.

That, of course, was no surprise. Today, we feel the same but there's one big difference: blue-collar Americans in 2020 work more hours than did workers in 1974 - an uptick of about 13 percent that happened in the years 1975-2016.

The reasons, says Jamie McCallum, are many.

The biggest issue seems to be that of low blue-collar wages combined with our 24/7 world and with algorithms that many employers use for staff scheduling. This leaves workers with irregular hours and an inadequate paycheck, forcing many to seek second or even third jobs - which may become difficult to keep because of those algorithms. Worse yet: minimum wage laws that are poorly enforced; employers who've been allowed to legally require tasks for which workers are unpaid; and gig jobs that sometimes pay the equivalent of pocket change or that make demands on workers that keep payouts low.

McCallum says that even white-collar workers are starting to see time/pay issues, especially during this pandemic.

There are things that can be done to alleviate these problems.

Employees, says McCallum, "could be motivated by something else besides money," such as better scheduling, enhanced benefits, more flexibility, or longer break times. Job performance demands might be relaxed somewhat. Employers can eliminate the pressure to do more in less time, and stop demanding that employees compete with robots. We can re-examine our "new work ethic." And unions, he indicates, shouldn't be off the table...

Despite that it's for anyone who's employed, the way you approach "Worked Over" will depend on which side of the paycheck you're on. It does lean more toward employees - and blue-collar workers, at that.

Indeed, author Jamie K. McCallum doesn't touch upon white-collar work much, though the relevance for them exists in his examples and information; in fact, worker-readers hailing from all business-types will find outraging tales; stories of workplace politics; and horror-story-like, near-dystopian hints of the future of employment. If it weren't for the somewhat Norma Rae tone and the solution-ideas, it would be enough to send a worker, screaming, to the break room to hide.

For business owners, McCallum explains why it's necessary to put employees first and re-think algorithms for all workers, and why robots may not be the employment solution you think they might be. He shows how some workplace practices have detrimental trickle-down effects on blue-collar workers (and, by extension, you), and how the biggest picture may be the scariest.

Reach for this book with an open mind and there's much to learn, whether you're the owner, supervisor, or an in-the-trenches worker. One job, two jobs, three jobs or more, "Worked Over" can't be overlooked..

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF JOSEPH TULLER, Decedent

Case Number: 20PR00376

TO ALL HEIRS, beneficiaries, creditors, contin-gent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of JOSEPH TULLER.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by KAREN A. TRUELOCK, in the Superior Court of California, County of SANTA CRUZ.

THE PETITION requests that KAREN A.
TRUELOCK, be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows:

Date: NOVEMBER 18, 2020

Time: 8:30 a.m. Dept. 4

The address of the Court is 701 Ocean St., Santa Cruz, CA 95060.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the Court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the Court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the Court.
If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the Court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
