Santa Cruz Economic Development

We have a vital resource for businesses here in Santa Cruz County, the Santa Cruz Economic Development Department. This office provides "A Human Connection to City Government". In addition, during this pandemic, they provide important resources and information for local business owners to help them navigate through this difficult business climate.

They work with formal & informal business associations, local business leaders, promoters of Santa Cruz business growth, City Council, and the City Manager's office to promote business vitality across the city from Downtown, to Harvey West, the River Street Corridor, Midtown/Eastside, Seabright, and the Westside. Every aspect of business and economic development is interconnected and the SCED provides resources aimed at creating a sustainable business environment that promotes entrepreneurship and growth.

To promote business, they can help you with growth financing and incentives, beautification, finding locations, and more.

Dreaming of launching your own business? They can help you plan & launch, connect with business consultants, and navigate City bureaucracy. Check out what they have to offer at: <https://www.choosesantacruz.com/>

An Environmental History of the Civil War

by Judkin Browning & Timothy Silver

Save the Earth! You'd agree to that. Who doesn't want to enjoy a bright, airy afternoon with cotton-ball clouds? Of course, you'd happily leave your grandchildren those shirt-sleeve kinds of days, thunderstorm evenings, clean air and water. That's what you'd choose if you could – though, as you'll see in "An Environmental History of the Civil War" by Judkin Browning & Timothy Silver, things weren't always so sunny.

In all the battles that occurred in the Civil War, just one campaign – the Mud March of January, 1863 – was named after the weather in which it happened. It was the result of not having accurate weather information, leading to poor planning. And it was not the only time that unforeseen forces affected the war.

The war, say Browning and Silver, had barely begun when measles outbreaks hit the newly-formed ranks especially hard. The average soldiers were boys from rural areas and "rural folk... lacked the immunity that some city folk enjoyed," so thousands fell ill. Bacterial infections followed, as did insect-carried and water-borne diseases; syphilis and gonorrhea spread, too, their effects lingering well past wars' end.

Hunger was a near-constant issue that affected soldiers' stamina; on or off the battlefield, they were not always well-fed. At least one general ordered his troops "not to confiscate private property," but hunger was stronger than a need to obey and foodstores were regularly raided, leaving civilians to starve. Troops dealt with floods or drought but, unaccustomed to local weather or ill-prepared by suppliers, soldiers suffered from heat stroke or severe dehydration exacerbated by dysentery from drinking water contaminated by debris, human and animal waste, or by corpses dumped in water sources or inadequate graves.

These are but a few issues of environment that happened to soldiers, but the authors also write about the effects on the environment from soldiers: fields left stripped and barren, cattle populations that took decades to recover, entire forests destroyed, alterations to the land, and countless graves and trenches dug for those who never went home... Chances are, if you're a student of Civil War history, you own shelves and shelves filled with battle dates and biographies. "An Environmental History of the Civil War" moves the story in a totally different direction.

Here, authors Browning and Silver take a no-holds-barred approach that goes deep into parts of the war that affected men on an individual basis, with a focus that's less on Generals and more on general troops, and a narrative that extends to both Black and white. Overall, that information is factual as well as matter-of-fact but it can be horrifyingly gruesome, too, with vivid descriptions of wounds and dispassionate images of violent death.

This, in other words, probably isn't a book you'd want to take to dinner.

That aside, Civil War buffs and anyone who's curious about day-to-day details of history won't be able to resist this thorough, non-sensational, very fascinating book. "An Environmental History of the Civil War" shows that it was a war between the North and the South, and the Earth, too. ■

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF JOSEPH TULLER, Decedent

Case Number: 20PR00376

TO ALL HEIRS, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of JOSEPH

TULLER.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by KAREN A. TRUELOCK, in the Superior Court of California, County of SANTA CRUZ.

THE PETITION requests that KAREN A. TRUELOCK, be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows:

Date: NOVEMBER 18, 2020

Time: 8:30 a.m. Dept. 4

The address of the Court is 701 Ocean St., Santa Cruz, CA 95060.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the Court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the Court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the Court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the Court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF PETITION

TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF

CECILIA R. HERNANDEZ, Decedent

Case Number: 20PR00368

TO ALL HEIRS, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of CECIL-

IA R. HERNANDEZ.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by RAUL H. RAMIREZ, in the Superior Court of California, County of SANTA CRUZ.

THE PETITION requests that RAUL H. RAMIREZ, be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows:

Date: NOVEMBER 18, 2020

Time: 8:30 a.m. Dept. 4

The address of the Court is 701 Ocean St., Santa Cruz, CA 95060.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the Court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the Court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the Court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the Court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
