Good Guys: How Men Can Be Better Allies for Women in the Workplace

by David G. Smith and W. Brad Johnson

The hero in an old-time Western always wears fancy boots. He's also chivalrous, good to his boss, polite to ranchers, and kind to small children. Bandits are never unnecessarily mistreated and even cold-blooded gun-slingers are treated fairly, while the boots get scuffed but still fancy. You can be like that hero by becoming a partner to the women in your workplace. Authors David G. Smith and W. Brad Johnson explain in their new book "Good Guys."

A few decades ago, James Brown sang "It's a Man's Man's World," and that extends to the world of work today. For many years, the workplace was made by men, for men, and that's always been a challenge for women. So how can you help change this? How can you "be a good guy to women at work?"

The first way, say Smith and Johnson, is to pay attention. It's hard to know there's a problem if a problem doesn't affect you so watch carefully and "get involved" by becoming an ally for the women in your workplace. That can be as easy as acknowledging their contributions to your team; or as extensive as recommending qualified women for better assignments or even becoming a mentor.

In your day-to-day work, always include the women on your staff in projects, actively ask for their input, and keep your eye open for potential. Just remember that experiences of inequality extend to racial issues, as well as those of gender; and that not all women have the same experiences.

If you are in a position of leadership, be aware that there's always more you can do to be an ally for women in the workplace. Speak up if you overhear something inappropriate and don't tolerate stereotypes or outdated biases. Re-work meetings by purposefully including women's voices in them. And strive to alter the culture at work through transparency and accountability. Your office and your business will be better with those changes. There's really one word to describe "Good Guys," and that's awkward.

You may even wonder, at first, if this book, with its advice for men hoping to (gasp!) make friends with women at work, suggestions on bringing spouses to off-hours work events to avoid wifely "feelings of jealousy," and a stuffy list of "ally slang," might belong in the humor section. Much of the best advice is so wildly moth-eaten that it feels like it came straight from a 1940s business correspondence course. This includes no-brainer counsel regarding listening to female co-workers, believing them, not flirting, sitting inoffensively in a chair, and suggestions for hand-signals that might stop unnecessary mansplaining; a chapter on equitability at home, in housework and childcare; and, unbelievably, notable cringe-worthy things you shouldn't say about women at work.

If you have absolutely zero experience with women – at work or otherwise – this book is an okay, if not very shaky, start. If you've already gotten to the point of being a good leader, a mentor, a CEO, or President of your business, though, you can give "Good Guys" the boot.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF

DEBORAH BARKOW-KORENSTEIN, Decedent

Case Number: 20PR00389

TO ALL HEIRS, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of DEBORAH BARKOW-KORENSTEIN.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by ALLEN J. KORENSTEIN, in the Superior Court of California, County of SANTA CRUZ.

THE PETITION requests that ALLEN J. KO-

RENSTEIN, be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows:

Date: DECEMBER 9, 2020

Time: 8:30 a.m. Dept. 4

The address of the Court is 701 Ocean St., Santa Cruz, CA 95060.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the Court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the Court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the Court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the Court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
