Bonny Doon Blooms

Bonny Doon Blooms is a Regenerative Flower Farm, owned and curated by Susan & Martin Burmeister. The farm is gearing up for Spring, and the colors are already beginning to shine. The first sunflowers are stretching toward the light, showing off bright new hues, and the flower beds are shaping up beautifully.

Imagine a flower field that doesn't just produce beauty, but actually improves the soil, captures carbon, and supports biodiversity, this is the promise of regenerative flower farming. More than a trend, it's a return to agricultural practices that work with nature, not against it. For flower lovers and eco-conscious growers alike, regenerative methods offer a powerful solution to common challenges like soil degradation, water waste, and reliance on synthetic inputs, all while yielding vibrant, long-lasting blooms.

By focusing on living soil, cover cropping, compost application, and minimal tillage, this approach builds resilience from the ground up. Healthy soil microbiomes not only support stronger plants but also increase water retention, critical during dry summers.

The mums have been planted, always a milestone that marks the true beginning of the season. The sweet peas are hanging in there, pushing through the cool mornings and getting ready for a strong start. The earliest blooms of sunflowers, sweet peas and soon mums will be swelling with color, just about ready to open and bring that first wave of excitement across the beds.

There are Spring Foliage bundles to enjoy, and the first wave of mixed annuals. Pick your favorites at the DeAnza College Farmers Market in Cupertino Sundays, 9am to 1pm. and on-farm pickups are also available on Fridays by appointment, and Mother's Day pre-orders will open soon. Selling Opportunity: The Story of Mary Kay

by Mary Lisa Gavenas

The finish line is off in the distance. It's not so far that you can't see it, and for months, you've planned for the moment you'd get there.

You've wanted it so much, you could feel it. And you'll make it because, as in the new book, "Selling Opportunity" by Mary Lisa Gavenas, you're willing to do whatever it takes.

Alexander and Lulu Wagner surely figured they were done raising babies.

There she was, though, an infant girl born more than a decade after her youngest-older sibling, a child they barely had time to name before they had to get back to work on the farm. They raised her in between long hours at a Houston-area hotel, a resort, a side-of-the-tracks restaurant, and several other endeavors just to put food on the table.

That little girl, Mary Kathlyn, grew up with very few possessions, therefore, but plenty of hustle. Though many Texas officials didn't think secondary education was appropriate for girls then, she was a good student, won accolades, served on a militaristic drum-and-bugle corps, and she was set to graduate high school a year early, at age fifteen.

Instead, she left school and married a teenage-man who was largely absent from her life, leaving the family's survival up to her. Before she divorced him age eighteen, she had three kids to feed and clothe, and she needed money.

Mary Kathlyn took a job selling psychology books.

She was good at that so, leaving her children with her mother, she started selling cleaning products door-to-door.

She refined her patter, added her own spin to the company guidebook, and she attended a rally in Dallas that blew her mind. She bounced from job to job, honed her skills, and worked her way up with characteristic determination.

By 1963, Mary Kay, as she later called herself, had had jobs at several companies, and three divorces under her belt. She was widowed twice. And she started her own business, one that would change the lives of millions of women...

Throughout your career, you've undoubtedly heard several U-Rah-Rah versions of "You can do it." You've taken some of them to heart. Others:

in one ear, out the other. So now read "Selling Opportunity," a book that shows it in action.

There are two things you're going to like best here. First, author Mary Lisa Gavenas tells the story of skincare mogul Mary Kay Ash, her career, and a life that would have crushed anyone lesser. To say that it's an inspirational story is an understatement, whether you're familiar with her or not. Secondly, to put this biography into perspective, Gavenas offers readers a sense of the social times and the people that surrounded Ash, which makes her struggles and resolve even more impressive.

Taken as a whole, "Selling Opportunity" is the kind of book that snatches you back in time to hardscrabble Texas, puts you on a hard road out, and you'll enjoy the journey home. It's a pink Cadillac of business biographies, and you'll love it to the finish. ~

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF DAVID ALVAREZ, Decedent

Case Number: 26PR00180
TO ALL HEIRS, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of DAVID ALVAREZ.
A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by GABRIELLA ALVAREZ, in the Superior Court of California, County of SANTA CRUZ.
THE PETITION requests that GABRIELLA ALVAREZ, be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows:
Date: 6/10/2026, Time: 8:30AM Dept. 10

The address of the Court is 701 Ocean St., Santa Cruz, CA 95060.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the Court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the Court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the

California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the Court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the Court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
